1	Quality maintained in the services provided to the learners	The University is focused on seamless learning, access to learning resources and instructional materials in order to improve the knowledge quotient and employability of learners by improving various skills. The curriculum is periodically revised with the implementation of contemporary industry requirements, concepts and skills prior to the commencement of the program. Instructional manuals, SLMs are constantly updated as per provisions stipulated as per UGC [ODL] regulations 2020. The quality in teaching - learning process is enhanced by focusing on knowledge transfer through multiple interactive platforms, optimal access to teaching-learning resources, instructional materials, improved self-learning material (SLM), multi device access to LMS - learning management system (LMS) for student progression. The academic counselling, personal contact programs and doubt clearance sessions, discussions were conducted online to ensure the learning experience is at par with conventional mode.	https://drive.google.com/file/d/1yIxpVOHNSuzrzBa4GQL9H4PWvLgK1Od8/view?usp=share_link
2	Self-evaluative and reflective exercises undertaken for continual quality improvement in all the systems and processes	Introspection and reflective exercise for optimal service quality and service delivery by the University is facilitated through a consultative process with students, faculty, subject matter experts and principal officers. Constant observation and review of the academic, administrative and evaluation process give the inputs for quality improvements. The continual self-reflective exercise has facilitated the improvement in enabling learning through multi-device access to learning materials, access to live counselling and PCP sessions, and use of Self Learning Material through both synchronous and asynchronous mode aiding in the ease and progression of learners. Comprehensive review of curriculum, instructional material and learning resources, SLM, tools for self-evaluation and continuous assessment prior to the commencement of every semester to ensure maintenance of academic integrity of the academic system and improved learning aligned with learners. The self-evaluative process of the academic system constantly ensures the need and relevance of programs on offer for contemporary learners and job requirements by evaluating the courses under each of the programs, the course material and its availability, the academic calendar, adequacy of learner and faculty resources for conduct of the program. The review of the learner support system mitigates and resolves the issues faced by the learners within specific time lines enabling learner progression through formative and summative assessment with timelines and relevant feedback.	https://drive.google.com/file/d/1y-ZVGkvujKtioBFt6v-PEqJltF_elecQ/view?usp=share_link https://drive.google.com/file/d/1V0fcp9RCScgtSR1-incGHnS_KL3ydIS/view?usp=share_link

Distribution of the formative assessment to leverage the progression with appropriate distribution of course curriculum i.e. The first assignment covers the first half of the curriculum and the second assignment covers the remaining half of the curriculum for the course. Feedback is also given to the learner during the formative assessment process. Conduct of Academic counselling and Personal Contact Programs (PCP) sessions to provide in-depth knowledge in respective courses, clarification of doubts, and provide an interface to facilitate the learning experience.
5	Mechanisms devised for interaction with and obtaining feedback from all stakeholders namely, learners, teachers, staff, parents, society, employers, and Government for quality improvement.	Feedback from stakeholders is obtained to infuse into the system relevant inputs that reflect on the service offerings and insights necessary to augment and supplement the teaching-learning. The feedback from students is taken through the learning management system on a regular and routine basis on the course, faculty and PCP session. The learners are free to give their feedback obtained in anonymous mode. The feedback forms are annexed to this document. Course Feedback Faculty feedback PCP feedback The feedback is shared with the concerned faculty for making suitable changes and improvement in content and delivery. Faculty and staff provide feedback based on interaction and queries raised by the learners and the same is factored in curriculum development, course content and teaching learning process. Other stakeholders provide feedback during specific interactions, events and such other opportunities as may arise from time to time. Due consideration is given to the same for suitable action. Academic peers and subject matter experts also provide valuable feedback for improvement of the instructional materials, self-learning materials, teaching learning process and evaluation for improvement in service quality and better learner engagement.	https://drive.google.com/file/d/1Ouui3XZiUQCeslbQtspxsPRKUxCk322B/view?usp=share link

15	Facilitated system based research on ways of creating learner centric	Access to learning resources and instructional materials to distance learners through multiple devices and channels of communication have enhanced the learning environment. The measure has facilitated faculty qualitatively utilising the time in counselling sessions and personal contact programs. The learners can perform all learning and academic activities through their Computers and through an app on their mobile devices. The learners are now able to access all the contents, notifications, learning materials and also attend the counselling and personal contact programs, completion of assignments and other curricular and co-curricular activities. 16	Steps taken as a nodal coordinating unit for seeking assessment and accreditation from a designated body for accreditation such as NAAC etc.	The University's Centre for Distance Education and Virtual Learning initiated its programs in 2019 and is in progress towards applying for accreditation upon completion of five years. The collation and compilation of data is an ongoing process duly monitored by the IQAC committee. The nodal coordinating unit takes the following measures to pursue evaluation and accreditation from a specified organization such as the National Assessment and Accreditation Council (NAAC): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Understand the accreditation process: The CIQA coordinator will educate the faculty members about the assessment criteria, standards, and guidelines established by the accreditation body. This will assist them in getting ready for the evaluation and accreditation process. • Accreditation committee: Form a committee comprising of faculty members, students, and other stakeholders. The committee will be responsible for coordinating the accreditation process and collecting the necessary information. • Self-assessment: Conduct a self-assessment of the institution based on the assessment criteria provided by the accreditation body. This will help identify the strengths and weaknesses of the institution and help in preparing for the assessment. • Preparing for the assessment: Providing data for AQAR metrics related to Open and Distance Learning (ODL). Documenting information year wise which is important to prepare for the assessment. Overall, seeking assessment and accreditation from a designated body like NAAC is a comprehensive process that requires significant preparation, documentation, and commitment from the institution.	NA
17	Measures adopted to ensure internalisation and institutionalisation of quality enhancement	Periodic assessment is an effective measure that is adopted to ensure the institutionalization of quality enhancement practices. Here are some of the steps that is taken into to achieve this: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Development of Quality Assurance Framework: For ensuring institutionalization of quality enhancement practices, CIQA is established to develop a quality assurance framework that outlines the key principles and practices. • Develop a Quality Enhancement Plan: Plan developed which focuses on the unique aspects of ODL programmes, such as learner support services, online teaching methodologies, and technology infrastructure. It outlines the objectives, strategies, and activities that are undertaken to improve the quality of the programmes. 	NA

The reviews cover all aspects of the programme, including curriculum, learner support services, and technology infrastructure. The reviews are conducted by internal and external experts. • Evaluate Learner Outcomes: Periodic evaluation of learner outcomes. This is done through online assessments, learner surveys, and feedback mechanisms. The evaluation is used to improve the quality of the programme and ensure that learners are achieving the desired learning outcomes. • Encourage Faculty Development: Faculty members are trained in online teaching methods, learner support services, designing and developing effective SLMs and technology infrastructure. The institution regularly organizes conferences, workshops, and guest lectures to keep faculty and students updated on the latest trends. • Implementation of Action Plans: The institution has developed action plans based on the results of the self-assessment and external assessments to address any weaknesses or deficiencies identified. The action plans are implemented in a timely manner and monitored regularly to ensure their effectiveness. • Regular evaluation of SLMs: The SLMs are accessible to all learners which involve providing materials in multiple formats, such as text, audio, and video, and ensuring that the materials are designed in a way that accommodates different learning styles. SLMs are periodically reviewed based on the feedback provided, and ensured that the revised materials meet the established quality standards.

the principal officers through the Academic Council and Board of Management.

The centre for distance education makes conscientious effort to ensure parity of the programs offered in the distance mode with regular mode. To ensure the quality of education and learning as well as facilitate the teaching learning through distance mode, the following process is followed:

- The SLM - self-learning material developed and prepared as per UGC guidelines and policy of the University – ensures leading the students' learning through self-assessment questions, mock assessments and formative assessment.
- Each module of every course outlines the objective of the module and articulates the knowledge and skill it purports to infuse into the learner.
- A list of key words included in the glossary at the end of every unit augments the learning and reinforces the concepts learnt
- References given at the end of each module enhance the scope for learning for the students who can do further reading through these references.
- Self-assessment questions and mock assessments facilitate the students to monitor their progression and learning through each course.
- Formative assessments, which have a weightage of 30% of the total assessment reinforces the progression and learning of the student.

Hand book- Communication of the details entire process of learning duly articulated topic wise is made available to the students through the handbook duly shared with the students

Through the hand book, the students are communicated key information about the Centre, the program details, Program Outcomes, Academic Learning approach, Academic Counselling sessions, Assignments, Pattern of assessment and assessment criteria including weightage, , Self-Learning Material, Learning Management system, Learning support Centre, Course matrix, syllabus etc.

Part – V: Programme Project Report (PPR) and Self-Learning Material (SLM)5.1 Compliance status of ‘Guidelines on Programme Project Report’ – As per Annexure - V of UGC (ODL Programmes and Online Programmes) Regulations, 2020

HEI shall mention the process followed to ensure that PPRs are prepared as per the guidelines mentioned in the Regulations. The explicit details of approval by its Statutory Authorities shall also be mentioned.

Center for Distance Education and Virtual Learning prepares the Program Project Reports for every proposed program keeping in mind the regulations and guidelines of UGC with respect to programs that can be offered, nomenclature of the program, existence of the program in the regular mode and approvals from statutory bodies and principal officers of the University. The program objectives, program outcomes are aligned to meet the outcomes for distance learners. Keeping in mind the Vision, Mission and Goals of the University, ensure preparedness for offering the program by:

- Preparing Program Objectives, Program outcomes, course outcomes and Course Matrix by focusing on relevance and appropriateness of the programme of the students of ODL.
- It also includes the nature of prospective target group of learners and instructional design, which comprise the course delivery mechanism, content development, technology enabled learning, teaching learning process of distance education.
- Receiving of Approval for obtaining necessary approval from UGC
- Submission of PPR to UGC-DEB for offering the program.
- On receiving approval from UGC, the programs are offered to the distance learners.

5.2 Compliance status of 'Quality Assurance Guidelines of Learning Material In Multiple Media And Curriculum And Pedagogy' – As per Annexure - VI of UGC (ODL Programmes and Online Programmes) Regulations, 2020

HEI shall mention compliance details against the requirements in terms of learning material (Print Media), Audio-Video Material, Online Material, Computer-based material and Curriculum and Pedagogy, as mentioned in the Annexure-VI of the Regulations for ODL programmes.

The distance program learners come from very diverse backgrounds, the university gives due importance to learner experience, support to their learning and facilitate synchronous and asynchronous learning.

'Self-Learning Material (SLM) for each course is prepared such that the SLM's are self-explanatory, self-contained, self-directed, self-motivating and self-evaluating.

The typical learner background is, employed and seeking progression through education, furtherance of education on account of inability to access formal education, seeking cost effective education through distance learning mode, pursuit of higher education for career progression etc.

The SLM's for each course are then formulated and drafted keeping in mind the learning objectives which are aligned to the course outcomes. The module wise contents of the syllabus start with an overview, learning objectives and learning outcomes and also includes a case study to facilitate learning through practical examples.

Summary of the module with glossary of terms and pointers given at the end of each module help the students to have a better grasp and understanding of key learning under each module. The links of online articles and informative videos are also provided in the form of pre-reading and post reading materials.

E-learning materials and other learning activities culminate through the self-assessment questions (both Multiple Choice Questions (MCQs) and Descriptive) and mock assessment given at the end of each module enabling the learner to appreciate and understand the progressions in learning achieved as well as self-evaluation of progression made.

The Self-Learning Material are thus prepared for each course separately and as elaborated above are made available on the Learning Management System (LMS) well before the scheduled date for commencement of the course and conduct of contact sessions.

In addition to the exhaustive self-learning material and other learner centric materials facilitating learning and progression of students, learners are also given access to the power point presentations used by the faculty members teaching the course as well as the recordings of online / blended sessions taken by the faculty week after week.

Further, the learners are provided with the audio and video content for all the courses of their respective programmes and the same can be accessed through the Learning Management System (LMS) and/or mobile app. It is a tool that provide a greater ease of use to the learners by accessing the PCP videos delivered by the faculty.

However, the center also provides digital content such as e-text books and research articles that shall enable the learners to enhance their knowledge and competencies of the courses offered by Online and Distance Learning of the University.

The curriculum includes vision and mission statements of the Online and Distance Learning of the University, overview of the program, Programme objectives and Programme Specific Objectives, Pattern of Assessment, Eligibility, Programme structure and syllabi.

The students seek counselling and advice on matters relating to academic processes, student engagement, knowledge acquisition and progression etc. The academic counsellors, tutors and mentors, counsellors with academic competencies, skills and comprehensive information, provide counselling to distance learners.

5.3. Compliance status in respect of Self-Learning Material– As per Annexure - VII of UGC (ODL Programmes and Online Programmes) Regulations, 2020

HEI shall mention the process followed to ensure that SLMs are prepared as per the guidelines mentioned in the Regulations. The explicit details of approval by its Statutory Authorities shall also be mentioned.

- a. Each course under each of the programs are to be mapped with the Program Educational Objective, Program Outcomes. Each course and the course contents under each of the programs shall be moderated keeping in mind the learning through the course based on the course outcomes ensuring that the SLM's are self-contained covering all dimensions of learning.
- b. The SLM's shall be formulated and drafted keeping in mind the learning objectives which are aligned to the course outcomes.
- c. Assessment of their prior knowledge and progression in learning shall be enabled through practice questions and self-assessment questions given at the end of each module, learning activities and examples given in the SLM.
- d. E-learning materials and other learning activities and case study shall be included enabling the learner to appreciate and understand the progressions in learning achieved as well as self-evaluation of progression made.
- e. Summary of the module with glossary of terms and pointers given at the end of each module help the students to have a better grasp and understanding of key learning under each module.

Part – IX: Grievance Redressal Mechanism9.1 Compliance status of 'Grievance Redressal Mechanism' – As per Annexure - X of UGC (ODL Programmes and Online Programmes) Regulations, 2020

HEI shall mention the mechanism put into place along with brief details of grievances received and actions taken thereof. Also mention that how the learners have been made aware about this mechanism.

DDE has a transparent mechanism for timely redressal of learner grievances. Typically, Grievances may include academic, assignment related, Examinations related or others. The university has created emails to look into each of these aspects independently and addresses them immediately.

The global crisis has necessitated the use of digital technologies to the learners to enable seamless experience. Learners can escalate academic issues by logging in the LMS platform and/or mobile app and raise queries through the E-Tickets module. In addition, the learners are also accorded with the email support and the same is made available through the handbooks offered by the University. Though the learners are encouraged to reach out through the student helpline via telephone, the support services have been restricted to extend due to the surge of COVID cases. Further, the students' queries shall be monitored and resolved by the concerned. Based on the type of issue raised by the learners, corrective actions shall be taken to ensure seamless experience and academic progressions to the learners.

The general issues are given below:

- Queries related to Learning Management System - LMS, Viz., password, login credentials, subject miss-match, language options, access to SLM, access to video, must be addressed to enquiry.cde@jainuniversity.ac.in
- All queries pertaining to assignments, assessment mode, assignment pattern, duration, shall be addressed to assignments.cde@jainuniversity.ac.in
- All queries related to academics, course credits, project/training sessions, synopsis, dissertations, personal contact programs, doubt clarification sessions, videos, reference materials, previous year question banks shall be addressed to academics.cde@jainuniversity.ac.in

- All queries related to examinations, Examination Time Table, Question paper pattern, duration of examination, mode of examination, passing criteria, Backlogs, payment of exam fees and revaluation fees, practical and Viva-Voce Exams shall be addressed to exams.cde@jainuniversity.ac.in

Students are communicated with the emails mentioned prior to the commencement of the programme to raise their problems (if any). This information is made available to the students in the respective handbooks for all the programmes offered by Center for Distance Education and Virtual Learning.

For instance, had a learner faces a trouble in accessing the LMS platform and/or mobile app, he/she can raise a request through email to enquiry.cde@jainuniversity.ac.in

Or

A student shall reach out to the academic instructors over zoom meetings to attend the scheduled doubt clarification session and the same shall be communicated through the academic calendar of events.

Type of HEI: Dual

The Online –Complaint Handling Mechanism of the Center for Distance Education and Virtual Learning (CDEVL), JAIN (Deemed-to-be University) facilitates learners to submit online complaints through the LMS portal and/or mobile app and track their resolution status.

The Center for Distance Education and Virtual Learning has initiated a fair policy to resolve complaints of the distance learners.

In order for the center to initiate investigation into the complaint, the following must be true:

1. The student shall submit the complaint electronically using the LMS platform and/or Mobile app. The student's complaint must contain name and enrollment of the student, programme and semester and a detailed description of the complaint, along with the names of all involved.
2. The student recognizes that the center will not investigate anonymous complaints. The center then shares the information to the complaint handling body for the redressal of the issue.
3. The student shall note that the minimum time for the resolution of issue is not less than 3 working days of registering the complaint.

Upon receiving the complaint of the learner, the committee investigates the issue and necessary action may be initiated. The student may be contacted during the investigation to submit documented evidence of the complaint.

Part – X: Innovative and Best Practices10.1. Innovations introduced during academic year

The global crisis has necessitated every sector to shift its operations to online thus providing an opportunity to initiate a 24x7 learning environment. In this view, the Centre has enabled student learning through the use of digital technologies by making the digital content accessed by the students from remote locations. The Center for Distance Education and Virtual Learning (CDEVL) has continuously striven to introduce new initiatives to support academic learning among the students.

The new initiatives include

- Online Self Learning Material
- Audio and Video Content
- Digital content
- Technology enabled learning
- Email support

The above services were introduced to make the learning easy for distance learners.

10.2. Best Practices of the HEI

With a view to improve the quality of the HEI, the following practices have been initiated.

1. Ensuring quality through the development of TLEP with a special emphasis on four-quadrant approach.
2. To enhance student learning, SLMs are supplemented by the digital content, audio and video material which can be made accessible to the students of open and distance learning.
3. To provide real time experience to the students, the case study approach has been in practice across the programmes offered.
4. Learners are encouraged to undertake internships electronically from the industries as a part of student dissertations.
5. The questions for formative and summative assessment has been developed by aligning the cognition levels of the learners using Bloom's taxonomy.

In addition, the contents were reviewed and redesigned course wise providing complete course description with an overview of units along with the objectives, activities, assignments and additional resources. The contents were revamped so as to provide opportunities for learners to engage in higher- order thinking, critical-reasoning activities and thinking in increasingly complex ways and to provide an environment for practice, at the learner's own pace and in his/her own time. The contents were reorganized keeping in mind the learning outcome based curriculum framework (LOCF). The learning outcomes were identified from all cognition levels of Bloom's Taxonomy for each unit in every module and have designed appropriate learning experiences corresponding to each learning outcome in order to achieve the desired learning outcomes. The contents were restructured to facilitate involvement of learners actively through various experience based activities and to encourage learner to apply new knowledge and skills.
